I came to the US when I was 4 years old. I was excited to live in a different country. The first time my mom took me to the park, I saw a squirrel. I was thrilled. Oregon has cute squirrels. My mom always took me to Bush Park. The squirrels ate nuts right out of my hands, it was cute and surprising. When I saw the beautiful flowers I always smelled them, they smelled really good.

I also love the mountains in Oregon. Every time my family goes to the mountains, it's always fun. I love to go there to see the beautiful landscape. We would go sledding, build snowmen, do BBQs, and snowball fights. I love snow because it's white and fluffy. it's always fun. I love to go there to see the beautiful landscape. mountains, I go mushroom hunting with my family, I feel like I'm on an adventure. Once my Dad found a salamander when he was looking for mushrooms. I love to see reptiles in the wild.

Forests are nice too. I love to see birds fly around the forest, and bugs climbing plants. I especially love to go to small streams and wet, mossy areas to look for salamanders. I really love the living nature here. I never saw anything like it.

It's peaceful to hear the rain against the car window. It's nice to drive by fields and landscapes. It's relaxing to hear geese fly above me and see that flock fly away. That's why I love Oregon.
